WHAT IS IT?

The United States Army Corps of Engineers (USACE) is a U.S. federal agency under the Department of Defense and a major Army command made up of some 37,000 civilian and military personnel, making it one of the world's largest public engineering, design, and construction management agencies.

RICHARD LONG & ANDREW WEBER

These two people from the Army Corp of Engineers will update SN17 on the status of activities at Addicks and Barker Dams and Reservoirs.

Richard Long is the Supervisory Natural Resources Manager and has worked with Army Corp of Engineers for over 30 years.

Andrew Weber is in the Project Management Division and he will be the primary presenter. Andrew is well versed in Addicks and Barker. He was on the design team and is now the Project Manager for the dam safety project. He also led the Buffalo Bayou and Tributaries Resiliency Study. He will brief on both of these activities.

The standard project briefing will not be discussed since most of the residents have seen and heard it. Discussion will be regarding the way forward. There will be a question and answer period at the end of the presentation on the topics covered in the presentation. Questions regarding Hurricane Harvey will not be addressed during this session. We have allotted approximately 45 minutes for these speakers.
